Profile

Christine Jonathan is a senior litigation lawyer in our firm. Christine graduated from Osgoode Hall Law School in 1986, and prior to that, she completed an Honours BA at Queen's University in Kingston, Ontario.

Christine practices in the areas of civil and commercial litigation and employment law. She acts for clients in a wide range of commercial matters including issues relating to shareholder disputes, mortgage and loan enforcement, real property and construction disputes, commercial landlord and tenancy disputes; and business insurance matters.

Christine also represents employers and employees in all aspects of employment law including wrongful and constructive dismissal cases; including mediations, Employment Standards Act issues, privacy and breach of contract cases. She negotiates, drafts and advises upon numerous executive employment contracts, and employment policy handbooks and has advised employers with respect to employment issues arising on the purchase and sale of a business; including cross border employment issues.
